WANDERINGS OF A NUMISMATIST AT HOME AND ABROAD.

BY E. LOCKE MASON.

Where'er we go for numismatic news,
Abroad, or thro' our "Uncle Sam's" domain,
Gathering coins from Christians, or from Jews,
We'll here describe them for our reader's gain.
Mayhap we'll interlard the "coin talk" well
With gibes and jokes, and many a story tell.

Among the pawnbrokers of Argyle street we discovered a really fine lot of rare pieces: Washington cents, war medals, beautiful specimens of the early English coins, in gold and silver, and to cap all a few uncirculated U. S. cents and half cents of scarce dates. From a Jew broker we learned of an old suburban dealer in antiquities.

It was on St. George's Road, a considerable distance from the Park or Post Office, where we found this dealer, in an old mansion that had been in times agoe apparently the gorgeous residence of some fine old Scotch gentleman. It was here where "cabby" turned in from the "Road" and drove around the semi-circle opening between decayed carriages, etc., to brown-stone steps, and it was here in this once grand mansion we obtained a rich collection of numismatic gems, and a few antiques in silver and glassware. Around what was once a beautiful lawn stretching either side and partially in front of a dilapidated fountain were old broken sofas, wheels, barrels of iron, pieces of timbers that seemed from their shape and dingy color to have been a part of Noah's Ark, leaving just about space enough between the piles of old furniture stuff to pass in and out. But when we entered the grand old front portico, and was ushered into an entry whose huge dimensions were crowded with old clocks, chairs, cushions and other peculiar furniture of a past age, our astonishment was even greater than when we first saw this odd building and its uncouth surroundings. As we passed on into parlors and chambers, dining and side rooms, conservatory and library apartments and beheld antique bureaus, secretaries, etc., wine holders, tables and chandeliers, corner cupboards and candelabras, candle-sticks and canisters, mantle glasses and mahogany bed-steads, in rooms, in piles, on shelves, and on each other, some thrown hither and thither, our eyes expanded and we stood and wondered and looked until weary and puzzled to explain whether these things were gathered from some great conflagration, or piled in to save them from an earthquake, a flood, or confiscation by an approaching enemy. An so on, up stairs, down stairs, and in subterranean apartments—here, there, and elsewhere, were the oddest and oldest of all sorts of household and fancy goods; all for sale, and all been in that promising condition apparently for years. Here we found Greek and Roman coins, precious stones, and some few early American dollars and copper pieces.

GREAT AUCTION SALE OF WASHINGTON'S RELICS.

December 10, 11 and 12.

The sale of the rare collection of Washingtoniana belonging to the Lewis family, of Virginia, the inheritors of a considerable portion of Washington's estate, attracted a large number of eager collectors and purchasers to the auction house of Thomas Birch's Sons, in this city. Buyers from all parts of the country were present, and the prices realized were altogether unprecedented and far beyond expectation.

Among those who were on hand, either as simple spectators or purchasers, were Judge Mitchell, of the State Supreme Court; Judge Pennypacker, Simon Gratz, John R. Baker, Dr. Edward Maris, Frank Marshall, Colonel Coxe, Mrs. Woodward and Mrs. Laughton, representing the Mount Vernon Society; Dr. L. R. Koecker, C. C. Stegerwalt, of Lancaster; representatives of the Washington Association of Morristown, N. J.; agents of large book-buying firms in New York and other cities, including many ladies.

A RUN OF HIGH PRICES.

The sale was conducted by Stan. V. Henkels. The first purchase, that of the letters testamentary granted to Lawrence Lewis and George Steptoe Washington, as executors of Washington's estate, was made by an agent for C. F. Guenther, a Chicago millionaire, and the price paid, $50, showed that big figures were to rule. W. S. Bradley paid $70 for the next piece, a certification of the Register of Wills of Washington that Lawrence Lewis and George Steptoe Washington were the executors, and after that Walter Aldrich, of Boston, picked up a four-page letter of Washington in its original envelope for $335. The representative of Joseph F. Sabin, of New York, paid $130 for another letter, and A. G. Murphy, who acted for A. R. Hearst, editor of the San Francisco Examiner, and son of United States Senator Hearst, coolly bid up to $380 a letter of Washington in which he expressed the wish that the Legislature of Virginia would abolish slavery.

A LIST OF SLAVES.

Other autograph letters brought $55 and $85, and a lot of papers in Washington's handwriting and generally containing his signature were knocked down at figures ranging from $15 to $85. When the eight-page list of Washington's slaves, all in his own writing, was put up there was a lively struggle for it, and it finally went to Mr. Murphy for $440. Three large ledgers were sold for $140, $195 and $220, and Mr. Aldrich paid $400 for one of Washington's private memorandum books. The other containing the last entry he ever made, went to the same buyer for $760. A memorandum book of surveys brought $250.

$400 FOR A CANDLESTICK.

These big prices showed that there were some very determined buyers in the crowd, but the biggest surprise of all was when two silver-plated candlesticks, which had belonged to Washington, were put up. Mr. Murphy received a telegram from Mr. Hearst during the sale to secure these at any price, but he had to pay $400 apiece for them to get them. The same gentleman paid $200 for some lottery tickets, and Mr. Chapman, acting for Millionaire Guenther, gave $630 for two oil portraits of Betty Washington and her husband, Carroll Fielding Lewis.

There was a lively fight for Washington's punch bowl, and the ladies of the Mount Vernon Society got it at $250. The silver ladle went to Mr. Murphy for $100. He also paid $80 for Washington's brandy decanter, and $100 for two silver-plated candlesticks. The Maryland Historical Society gave $45 for a cut-glass fruit dish, and the Washington Association of Morristown bid in a number of small articles. Nelly Curtis' piano stool went to the Mount Vernon Society for $132.50, and a cut-glass brandy decanter and eight brandy tumblers were knocked down to a Mr. Bronson for $130. All the table articles brought remarkable prices, a sherry glass selling for $18, a cup and a saucer for $18, a cream pitcher for $25, and punch glasses for $12 apiece.

The signature of Martha Washington, which is very rare, attached to a receipt, sold for $60, and $105 was paid by the Mount Vernon Society for a marble clock which is not thought to have belonged to Washington.

There were 545 lots and a supplementary list of "FRANKLIN'S IMPRINTS," numbering 41 lots, and 32 lots of "MAPS AND PLANS," and 136 lots of old newspapers, etc.

$400 FOR THE TORIES' PETITION.

When Commodore Porter's autograph reply to Sir James Yeo's challenge was brought up the representatives of the Hearst's again came forward and carried off the gem for $65. The sensation of the evening, however, was the sale of the original petition of the Tories of New York to Governor Clinton. It started at $25, and for some time the bibliomaniacs were prophesying that $100 would buy it. There was no little surprise when down came the hammer and it was learned that Mr. Aldrich, of Providence, had bid $400. The autograph copy of "The Phantom Ship" brought $30, and a letter in which Washington expressed his willingness to pay monies promised by his wife before he married her was purchased for $150.

A copy of the Constitution, owned by Elias Boudinot, brought $115 from "Jersey." Of the Bibles sold, the Biblia Sacra Germaniae was purchased by W. E. Benjamin, for $41: the Bishop's Bible, printed in 1572, brought $100, a Mr. Chapman, of this city, being the purchaser.

The last and one of the most important sales of the evening was that of the "Aitken Bible," the first Bible in the English language ever printed in America. It was purchased by Mr. Sabin for "Quincy" for $750, $325 per volume.

The proceeds of the whole sale amounted to $23,572.80. There are several very noticeable points regarding this remarkable book sale just passed. First, that although Philadelphia has some of the finest private collections of books, autographs and relics in this country, her collectors or public libraries do not seem to bid extensively at important sales. This was observed not only at the sale just passed, but also at the sale of Washingtoniana held here in December.

Another interesting fact is that although New York and Boston have heretofore been considered the best cities in which to dispose of valuable books and autographs, the highest prices ever received for many books have just been paid in Philadelphia. Thus the Quaker City may be now considered the leading book auction city of America.—Ledger.

OUR NEXT VOLUME.

To all readers we would say that an early notice of their intention to subscribe to volume XIV will be appreciated. The money need not accompany the notice of subscription, as we simply wish to know how many of our patrons and others are willing to continue with us. We wish to publish this journal monthly, and increase its size. We would also request our friends to suggest the name of a suitable person to unite with us in business, as the work increases daily and an assistant is absolutely required.

TO OUR VISITING PATRONS AND TRAVELERS.

When numismatists and dealers attend auction sales of coins, books, bric-a-brac, etc., so frequently, in this city, we advise them to patronize from New England to New York, the New York and New England Steamboat and Railroad line, and when leaving New York or the South and West for Philadelphia, patronize the Philadelphia and Reading R. R., Delaware and Lackawanna R. R., and the Baltimore and Ohio line: fast time, splendid cars, prompt arrivals and departures. Call at our office for circulars and advice, 111 South Juniper street.

BEN FRANKLIN'S OLD WATCH BRINGS AN ENORMOUS SUM.

Ben Franklin's old bull's eye watch, in a silver case, was sold yesterday afternoon for $2,100 to Mr. Buckley, a reliever from the interior of the State. The watch was among the valuable collection of articles sold by Mr. Baker, and is of English make. On the back of the case is engraved: "Ben. Franklin, 1776, Philadelphia."—Press, Feb. 12.

When Mason & Co., Coin Dealers, were in business at the store, 32 N. Thirteenth, this city, the above watch was left by the owner from the western part of the State on sale at $1,500 with said firm. No purchaser being found it was returned to the owner. It may not be known that Ben. Franklin, while a printer in Milk street, Boston, (where the Boston Daily Post building stands) lost this watch in the out-house, in the yard at the rear of the printing office. When Mason & Co. had this watch a corroborated history accompanied it, and the old leather shoe string, glistening with the polish of a printing office, was full of old steel keys, etc., and every place the watch had been left for repairs had left in the inner case an advertisement. Mason & Co.'s patrons who declined to pay $1,500, will whistle painfully at the loss of $600 in so short a time.—Editor.

VALUABLE GOLD MEDAL.

The President of the United States has presented to Joseph Francis, inventor of Life-Saving Apparatus, a gold medal weighing over 36 oz. (intrinsic value $760), designed by Zeleima Bruff Jackson. Obverse, portrait of Joseph Francis; reverse, a wreck and life-saving apparatus in use. Seventy-four days were required in engraving the dies, and 32 blows of the press (each blow 100 tons), were required to get a perfect impression of the medal.

PARTNER WANTED.

We want a man somewhat familiar with coins, or having a knowledge of the testing and buying of old gold, silver, etc., to take an indoor position in our store, near the U. S. Mint, this city. Our business has been established for over thirty years, and we have a profitable trade in coins, precious metals, and publications.

We are publishing the Coin Collectors' Magazine, which was commenced in 1867; also, a Twenty-five cent "BUYING AND SELLING COIN PRICED BOOK," (only one of the kind in the United States) and various other publications—all of which are copyrighted. We have about one thousand dollars in stock and fixtures, (omitting coins) and will take a partner who will pay five hundred dollars for half interest, owning half of thousands of publications, about a thousand boxwood cuts of coins, mints, etc., foreign and American—safe, cabinet, and office furniture, (including gold and silver testing apparatus, scales, etc., etc). The partner would own half interest in Coin Book copyrights in addition, and a stock of coins would be placed in his charge for sale. As the duties of outside coin collecting, in both hemispheres, and absence during the summer months of the present proprietor renders it necessary that an assistant (only as a full partner) is necessary. Splendid opportunities to make money. Thorough investigation and references desired and furnished. Address Mason & Co., 111 S. Juniper street. (opposite U. S. Mint) Philadelphia.

PAUL JONES' RELICS, &c.

We have for sale the Spy Glass used by John Paul Jones on the Bonne Homme Richard; also, the Old Constable Gun belonging to Com. Reed of U. S. Navy, and Stephen Decatur and other Autographic Letters connected with the Revolutionary War.

NUMISMATIC VISITORS.

Dr. Maris, Chas. Steigerwalt, Wm. Jester, G. G. Evans (Publisher of the U. S. Mint Book of Coins, etc.), Harry Chapman, Clark Bro.'s (Jewellers), and numerous visitors from U. S. Mint, have looked smilingly in upon us and patronized the coin department, during the few days we have been open for business. Thanks, gentlemen—all are welcome. Hours 9 to 3.

$3 AND $1 GOLD PIECES AND 3c. PIECES DISCONTINUED IN 1890.

The Director of the U. S. Mint announces that there were no three dollar nor one dollar gold pieces nor three cent nickel pieces coined during the year 1890.

1889 AND 1890 HALF DOLLARS AND QUARTERS.

During the "calendar" year 1889 there were 12,711 half dollars, and the same number of quarters coined at the Philadelphia Mint. During the "fiscal" year ending June 30, 1890, there were 12,716 half dollars, and an equal number of quarters coined.

AUTOGRAPHS BY AUCTION.

The late Prof. Leffingwell's fine collection of Autographs were sold by Libbie & Co., Boston, Mass., January 6, 1891.

AMUSEMENTS.

E. Locke Mason, dramatist, and a well-known manager of entertainments, would be pleased to hear from all "professionals," and others desiring to negotiate "Benefits," etc. See advertisement, first page of cover.

WASHINGTON RELICS, ETC.—By Auction.

The sale of the John R. Baker, Sr., collection of Washington's books, and other historicial and literary rarities was begun in the auction rooms of Thomas Bireh's Sons, Wednesday and Thursday, February 11th and 12th. About fifty people were present, most of them being collectors or agents for dealers.

The first sale was the catalogue of Washington's library knocked down to W. R. Benjamin for $22.00. Mr. Wells, agent for Estes & Laureat, of Boston, made the next important purchase, a copy of Stephen's Philadelphia Directory for 1796, bidding $190 for it. Then a young man named Wedderburn purchased for $80 a 12vo. calf volume, "Memoirs of the Life of the late Charles Lee."

After the sale the auctioneer held up Washington's copy of The Federalist, (2 vols.), and casually remarked that it was worth $1,000 a volume. Somebody bid $150. Then $160, $170, $180, $190, and $200 per volume were offered. Young Mr. Wendroth entered the room just at this point, and in fifteen minutes had secured the two volumes for $1900. People began to open their eyes and wonder who he was, and a whisper went around the room that he was buying for the family of Senator Hearst, the Californian of many millions.

Washington's Ahiman Rezon, which was presented to him in 1783 by the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, was sold to Mr. Aldrich, of Providence, Rhode Island, for $420. Mr. Broek secured a copy of Willis' Pleadings in Equity, with an autograph of Bushrod Washington on the title-page, for 25 cents. And soon afterward two exquisite old Chinese vases belonging to Washington were sold to Wedderburn for $475 each. The fingerboard from Washington's violin went for $4. And W. R. Benjamin got the plate from his coffin for $80.

WASHINGTON'S LEDGER ACCOUNTS.

The same purchaser secured Washington's ledger accounts of the Mt. Vernon and other farms for $235. Mitchells paid $215 for an autograph letter of four pages, signed by the first President. The latter's original draft of his answer to the address from the citizens of Alexandria was knocked down to Mr. Aldrich for $340, and an autograph letter from Valley Forge brought $150. Mr. Sabin secured a three-page letter from Mad Anthony Wayne for $135, and a letter from Lafayette, dated 1825, went to Mr. Wendroth for $12.

The evening sale began with the purchase by W. R. Benjamin of James Monroe's commission as Minister Plenipotentiary to Great Britain, $27.50. A letter, dated September 21, 1775, Camp at Cambridge, from Washington, obtained $160 from W. E. Benjamin; Boudinot Ruth, of New York, made the next purchase, it being the certificate of membership of Elias Boudinot in the Society of Cincinnati, signed by Washington. The price was $115. General Moultrie's famous letter to Lord Charles Montague was purchased by D. S. R. Koercher, of this city, for $165.

A VALUABLE AND DOUBLY USEFUL LITTLE INSTRUMENT FOR LADIES.

"DUPLEX" ELECTRO-MAGNETIC CURLER AND CRIMPER.

This is the most perfect, convenient, useful and effective little toilet article ever invented. It combines a Comb-Curler of superior finish with an improved Tong Crimper, and both parts being Electro-Magnetic, it quickly produces wonderfully pleasing and fashionable results. With its aid the hair can be fixed in any desired style, and when so fixed with this little instrument it retains the effect much longer, and is not even effected by the damp air. Once tried, always used.

PRICE, 50c. DR. BRIDGMAN'S OF ALL DEALERS.

It does not break off or ruin the hair like most Curlers and Crimpers, never fails in operation, and is guaranteed to give satisfaction. MONEY REFUNDED IF NOT AS REPRESENTED.

It is for sale by the leading drug, dry and fancy goods trade generally, but if not obtainable in your vicinity we will mail it to any address, post-paid, guaranteeing safe delivery, on receipt of 50c., or five for $2.00. Remit by draft, express, or post-office money order, or currency in registered letter payable to The A. Bridgman Co., 373 Broadway, N. Y. Mention this paper. Agents wanted for Dr. Bridgman's Corsets, Brushes, Belts, and Specialties. Beautiful and popular goods. Most liberal terms.
